INJUNCTION ASKED AGAINST METHODS OF THE STRIKERS

Hearing on the Order to Show Cause Will Be Held Today—Charges Against the Association.

The Oahu Sugar Company, Limited, is named as the plaintiff in a bill for an injunction, directed against Makino and thirty-two other Japanese who have been identified with the agitation for higher wages among the plantation laborers. An order to show cause why a temporary injunction should not issue, restraining the defendants from in any way interfering with the business of the Oahu Sugar Company, was signed yesterday by Circuit Judge Robinson and was set down for argument at 4 o'clock this afternoon.

The order to show cause directed against Makino and his thirty-two co-defendants was granted on a motion made by the firm of Kinney, Ballou, Prosser and Anderson, the attorneys for the Oahu Sugar Company, based upon the bill of complaint and upon the affidavits of Hatsuhei Tsunoda, Katsuji Tsunoda and Ioyaji Tsuzuki.

The unlawful operations of the members of the Higher Wage Association as reflected in the actions of the defendants named, are well shown in the affidavit that Fushino, one of the defendants named, forcibly detained him at the office of the Higher Wage Association in Honolulu on Sunday last, Tsuzuki being also threatened with bodily harm if he did not discontinue his employment with the Oahu Sugar Company. The two other defendants who are connected with the threats of violence are Hanks and Matsushige, who are charged with having made threats against the life of Tsuzuki. The affidavit concludes in the following language:

Fear of Life.

"That by reason of the threats of personal violence and death herebefore referred to deponent is daily and hourly in fear of his life lest the threats made by the parties herein named be carried out."

A second affidavit attached to the motion for an order to show cause why the temporary injunction should not be granted is signed by H. Tsunoda, who states that on Sunday he was threatened by Yanagisawa, one of the defendants, who also stated that if he attempted to prevail on his former workmen to return to the field, he would be "choked to death."

The Japanese, Hada, is charged in the affidavit as being the person responsible for the detention of Tsunoda in the office of the Higher Wage Association.

SUPERVISORS TALK LITTLE

Routine Business Is Quickly
Disposed of Without Discussion.

A laudable desire to get through with business as soon as possible and get home, pervaded the meeting of the Board of Supervisors last night. There was practically no discussion of any of the matters that came up and everything went through sweetly and smoothly.

The appropriation bill passed a third reading on the mention of its title and the call of the roll in which there were no dissenting voices.

It looked as though there might be a heated discussion at one time when the matter of appropriating a sufficient amount to purchase an inkpot and pen for the fish inspector came up, but Aylett explained so clearly and neatly the necessity for these articles that oil was poured on the troubled waters and the appropriation was passed without dissent.

After the minutes of three previous meetings had been read and approved, Logan stated that he needed more time for the report of the ways and means committee. Appropriations were then made for the municipal office rent, $250; donation to the Leahi home,

MONGOLIA MAY RACE ALAMEDA

She Will Leave for the Coast
About the Same Time
Today.

Head seas were responsible for the delay of the Pacific Mail liner Mongolia in reaching Honolulu until last evening after 7 o'clock, and she will therefore have quick dispatch leaving for San Francisco at 10 o'clock this morning, following the Oceanic liner Alameda closely out of the harbor. The run of these two boats to the Coast will be interesting to Honolulu and particularly owing to the mails. It is likely that the mail will be sent up on the Alameda.

The Mongolia carried a very large list of passengers and twenty-seven of them drop off here, several of them being Honoluluans. The more that get off here the better for the large waiting list of the agents, who expect to accommodate about eighty-five passengers from here. Among the principal passengers was Ambassador O'Brien, who has been at Tokio for the past two years, who is now on leave of absence and after visiting Washington will meet his wife in the East. Mrs. O'Brien went to Brussels from Tokio via Siberia to visit with her married daughter.

Tom McKay, the dapper tourist agent of the Far East, known the world over, is aboard en route to New York and possibly to Europe. Tom blew into Honolulu last night attired in his usual attractive way, one of the principal elements of his garb being a silk vest

BOYS AT EXPOSITION LAP HAWAIIAN SUGAR HOUSE

SEATTLE, June 24.—A sugar palace such as shown in one of the scenes from the "Ginger Bread Man" is building as one of the exhibits of Hawaii at the exposition. So toothsome is the palace that the workmen have difficulty in keeping ahead of the visitors who break off pieces of the structure and eat it. Small boys passing the sugar palace give it a desultory lap with their tongues and the result is that by night considerable of the sugar is missing.

The sugar palace is 25x27 feet and 14 feet high. It is a replica in sugar of the royal palace of Hawaii which is now used by the territorial government.

The framework is of wood, but the exposed surfaces are covered with sugar of various grades. The raw brown sugar appears to be most popular with the visitors, who take a taste of the palace in passing, and, luckily, the Hawaiian commission has an abundance of that commodity. The brown sugar is moistened with water and plastered on the walls, just as mortar is used to plaster an ordinary building. When the sugar dries it becomes hard and a piece can be removed only with considerable effort. It is when the sugar is soft that it appeals to the crowds.

Great crystals of sugar will be used to represent jewels in the making of the palace, so that when it is finished it will be gorgeous in its coloring.

PHILLIPS IN SEATTLE.

H. P. Wood, of the Promotion Committee, has received a picture postal from Mannie Phillips on the front of which he writes under date of June 26 from Seattle, "Was in the Hawaii exhibit this afternoon and there was a larger crowd there than in any other building. All like the pineapples and the music and everyone is kept busy."

AMBASSADOR O'BRIEN ARRIVES ON MONGOLIA

No Friction Behind His Return to Home
Land.

The Hon. T. J. O'Brien, American Ambassador to Japan, is a passenger on the Mongolia, sailing today for San Francisco. Mr. O'Brien is leaving his post for a short vacation and will proceed from San Francisco directly to his home at Grand Rapids, Mich., from whence he will go to Beverly, Mass., for a conference with President Taft at the "summer White House." After a month in the United States he will return to Japan by way of Paris and the Trans-Siberian railway.

Mr. O'Brien said that his visit home at this time has no diplomatic significance; he is merely taking advantage of the opportunity to escape the worst summer weather in Tokio to pay a visit to his family and to look after private business matters.

It is understood that President Taft earnestly desires Mr. O'Brien to retain the Tokio post, and no change in the personnel of the Japanese-American diplomatic representation is anticipated.

AMBASSADOR O'BRIEN.

W. R. CASTLE THE CHILDREN RETURNS SWAM LIKE HOME DUCKS

Says Tokio Government
Is Opposed to the Strike.

In the opinion of W. R. Castle, who returned on the Mongolia last evening from an outing in Japan with his daughter, Miss B. Castle, the Japanese cabinet does not take the view that the strike of Japanese plantation laborers in the Hawaiian Islands is a matter which greatly concerns them, and he is also of the opinion that the conservative estimate of the strike among the official and better element is that it was unjustified and the work of agitators. Of course, the news of the strike when published in Japan caused considerable excitement and for awhile there was no definite understanding of how it was brought about.

On the same steamer with Mr. Castle was Mr. W. Denby, who is connected with the Japanese government, and has been sent here to investigate the strike. He was met last evening by Consul-General Uyeno. The Consul was also at the dock to greet Ambassador O'Brien. The latter was met at the anchorage by Chester Doyle of the High Sheriff's office and escorted by him to the Moana Hotel. The Ambassador continues on to the Coast on the Mongolia.

R. O. MATHESON WILL SUCCEED D. L. CONKLING

Today R. O. Matheson, of the Advertiser staff, will succeed Lloyd Conkling, as chief clerk of the Governor. Mr. Matheson is one of the most capable men who ever engaged in the newspaper business here, and as special writer, Monday editor and night editor for this journal he has earned credit for some of his best work. During two weeks past he has been, during the editor's vacation, in sole charge. Mr. Matheson goes to the Governor's office with an equipment for the work in hand that could hardly be improved upon. He will be succeeded on the Advertiser by Mr. Harvey-Elder, formerly of the Los Angeles Times, who for about a year past has been writing for one of the Honolulu afternoon papers.

SHOT WITH AN AIR GUN.

A native living at River and Vineyard streets picked up a little airgun last evening and aimed it at his female housekeeper, saying jocosely, "I'm going to shoot you." "Go ahead," she replied and he pulled the trigger. The small bullet imbedded itself in her forehead and she had to be taken to the hospital to have the lead extracted.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 6.—Benson, convicted of frauds in connection with Federal land matters, will go to San Quentin tomorrow to serve his sentence.

NEW YORK, July 6.—The American Sugar Refining Company has entered pleas of not guilty to indictments for frauds in weighing sugar for duty and has been granted two weeks to prepare for trial.

ST. PETERSBURG, July 6.—Troops are held in readiness to march for the occupation of Teheran. The governments of Germany and Austria have established quarantine guards upon their borders against Russia on account of cholera.

FOURTH OF JULY ON THE VASTY DEEP

The Fourth of July was celebrated on Antipodes day by the passengers on the Mongolia. A good supply of fireworks and prizes to be offered to contestants in deck sports had been taken aboard at Yokohama, and a committee to take charge of arrangements was appointed by Mr. O'Brien, the American Ambassador at Tokio. The committee in charge of arrangements was headed by the Hon. Charles L. Denby. The Committee on Sports was composed of Mr. E. E. Megett, an Englishman, and Mr. J. R. Jameson, a Canadian.

In the forenoon many packages of firecrackers were discharged by the younger Americans, but the larger supply of fireworks was reserved for use in the evening. The forenoon and early afternoon were given up to athletic contests and other deck sports in which the contestants were drawn from several nations. Prizes went to citizens of Great Britain, China and France as well as to Americans. Chinese boys and girls were particularly fortunate in winning prizes.

After dinner Mr. Denby introduced Mr. O'Brien, who made a brief speech in which he predicted that the Pacific Coast would eventually become the front door of America in a commercial sense, and spoke of the necessity for preparation upon the part of the United States for the discharge of the surplage of the expanding west across Pacific to the Asian markets. The evening fireworks display was held upon the after deck. Afterward an informal dance was given for first cabin passengers.

At Sabbath services patriotic hymns were sung after a sermon had been delivered by the Rev. W. G. Cram, of Kentucky, for several years a missionary in Korea.

At the request of the passengers upon the Mongolia Mr. W. R. Castle delivered two lectures upon Hawaii during the voyage from Yokohama. His first address was upon the Hawaiian Islands, geographically, topographically, agriculturally and politically.

Mr. Castle, who was introduced by Mr. Denby, said that there existed abroad no little misinformation as to how the Hawaiian Islands became United States territory. He explained the developments that led to annexation, and dwelt upon the benefits that have accrued to the people of the islands as a result of annexation and the introduction of American capital.

Mr. Castle's second lecture was upon the volcanoes of Hawaii which he described as being the only tame and trustworthy volcanoes in the known world. He talked interestingly of his adventures as an explorer of craters many years ago, and told of the opportunities they now present to tourists visiting Hawaii.

TO STUDY AMERICA.

His Excellency Meh Hung Chun, vice president of one of the important governmental boards of the Imperial Chinese government at Peking, is a passenger on the Mongolia, bound for Washington. He bears a commission from the Prince Regent of China to study the American railroad systems and the operations of the Interstate Commerce Commission, with a view to the suggestion of reforms in the administration of the Chinese government railways. He expects to stay at least a year in the United States.

He is accompanied by his wife and four small children, and is attended by a retinue of servants. He expects to place his two older boys, twelve and ten years of age, in school to begin their English education.

GOING HOME TO LECTURE

The Hon. Charles L. Denby, American Consul-General at Vienna, Austria, is a passenger on the Mongolia, which arrived yesterday evening from Yokohama. Mr. Denby has been until recently the Consul-General at Shanghai. He is a son of the late Charles Denby, who was for a long time the American Minister at Peking, and he has had an experience in China extending over a score of years.

Shortly before he left Shanghai he was given a dinner by the American and British colonies of that city, which was one of the most remarkable testimonials of esteem ever given an American consular representative in the Far East.

Mr. Denby will stop for a short time on the mainland before proceeding to his new post of duty in Europe. He is accompanied by Mrs. Denby and three small sons.

While at home Mr. Denby will deliver several lectures in important American manufacturing cities on the prospects for the extension of American trade in China. He is undertaking this duty at the request of Secretary of State Knox.

FINDINGS OF THE CORONER.

The following verdicts were rendered yesterday by coroner's juries:

"George Tietzin came to his death on the 3rd day of July, 1909, from strangulation caused by hanging himself to a bedpost with suicidal intent."

"John Doe, name unknown, came to his death on or about the 27th day of July, 1909, from strangulation caused by hanging."
